"The flow of water & natural sensual movement triggers a deep, creative spark in my being. As I gaze above, I close my eyes and discover the messages that are linked with our evolution. I want to give people confidence towards the future."

Lia Strell is a Southern California sculptor designer. Her style is alluring. To appreciate Lia's art is to understand the artist. Her work has been evolving since the introduction to oil painting at the age of six. She was painting before she could sign her name properly. By age twelve, Lia knew she was going to be an artist. Her University years were spent exploring art through glass and clay.

In the early 1990's Lia was fascinated with marble and sculpted in Italy. She created a marble series that is valued and cherished.

Lia's work is now in the metals, Copper, Aluminum, Bronze, Gold, & Silver. She also spends time at her computer developing new ideas to share.

Lia has exhibited her work in numerous galleries and juried shows throughout California. Her work is prominently featured in many corporate and private collections.

Xpressions of Energy

Inspired by natural movement and light, Lia's symbols represent everyday moods, feelings and ideas. Her intention is to take these ideas and create simplified symbols of energy.

Swirls of Significance

Lia's work is at the center of science and art. She interprets Quantum thought in a new sculptural way. She works with a specific energy while creating, and often times combines crystals and mineral nuggets for a more evocative look.
